The whole family traveled together over Spring Break to the Thai-Burma border for a vision-medical mission with our friends and the Free Burma Rangers. Bob was able to go to Burma in the fall for a three-week training mission to teach the FBR medics how to examine eyes and then how to construct and dispense glasses. Now we just need another 100,000 pairs of glasses to go over there...

Both Andrew (19) and Elle (14) are on the go. Both emphasized distance running and cross country skiing in addition to their school work. Elle helped her Grace High School cross country team repeat as small school champions and is starting nordic skiing for the Grizzlies. Andrew, an engineering freshman, is skiing and is on the cross country running team for the University of Alaska-Fairbanks. He got to go to meets in Hawaii and Washington. Andrew also got to go to Florida with dad for a research presentation about iritis.

Bob and Koni both got to go to visit the grandparents in Wisconsin and Washington when not coaching skiing or hosting visiting runners. Bob's software company which helps monitor premature eyes hosted on "the cloud" is almost ready to go out to hospitals worldwide.

We remain amazed that a young couple were willing to go from Nazareth to Bethlehem so our Savior would fulfill prophesy so hope and great joy could go out for all the people- from Alaska to Burma and all places in between.
